McKEON BLASTED AT HIWAY HEARING

Commission's Integrity Hit By Feyge; Chairman Says Claim Is Not True

Two accusations—one of them direct, the other implied—cracked open an otherwise routine public hearing Tuesday on the proposed route to link Junipero Serra with Skyline boulevard.

The direct accusation was hurled by builder Henry Doelger at competitive builder Chris McKeon.

Doelger accused McKeon of trying to beef up his land in order to get more money from the state when it came time to sell it for freeway use.

He cited a telephone call he claimed he received from McKeon in January of this year during which he said McKeon urged him not to send engineer Carl Timmons before the Daly City City Council to protest the revised (McKeon) route A-1 D.

"McKeon called me and said he knew the state won't go for Route A-1-D but that he wanted to get more out of the state for the lots involved," Doelger charged before Chairman R. B. Bradford and members of the State Highway Commission.

"McKeon said that instead of the $5000 the state would offer him, he wanted to up the price for lots to $6000 for inside ones and $6500 for corner lots," Doelger added.

He also accused McKeon of having done a similar thing in connection with the purchase of right-of-way for what is now Junipero Serra.

"He knew that highway was going through his property, Doelger claimed, "but he went right on grading and improving it until the state finally had to pay him $1 million for the land.

"It looks to me now that he's trying to take the state for $1,200,00."

Doelger based this estimated figure on the sale of lots at the $6000-$6500 price as opposed to the $5,000 figure.

George McKeon took the mike then, saying, "These statements are completely false and erroneous. Mr. Doelger had better be prepared to substantiate them."

When asked following the hearing if he planned to institute a suit against Doelger, McKeon said he would "stand on the record right now."

Timmons conjectured that McKeon would probably file suit "just for the publicity."

"There's nothing that says he has to pursue it," he added.

The implied accusation came from ex-mayor Harold Feyge of Pacifica who, in presenting the city's stand in the issue, suggested that the Highway

Battalion Chief Warns Against 'Engine Chasing'

Playing with fire is dangerous enough but those persons who insist on chasing fire engines at close quarters are just asking for double trouble, according to Fire Battalion Chief Wayne Alexander.

Chief Alexander issued a warning this week to such "daredevils" who he says can't seem to resist following fire apparatus "so closely that they're really asking for it."

He called attention to the motor vehicle code which states that only 300 feet or more constitutes a safe distance between vehicles moving in the same direction.

He said that recently, whenever a fire alarm is sounded, motorists will follow the engines and equipment so closely that "should we have to stop suddenly or back up, there would certainly be an accident."

So far no one has been injured because of this practice, Alexander said, but he added that he fears that if it does not stop soon, "the worst could happen."

CHIEF KENNEDY GIVEN PLAQUE FOR HEART WORK

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy has received a letter and plaque commending him for his service in behalf of the 1961 Heart Fund campaign.

The letter from Robert B. Lytel, chairman of the fund drive, reads as follows

"The board of directors joins me in thanking you for your outstanding work as the Daly City chairman of the 1961 Heart Days for Business Campaign.

"You will be interested to know that through you and the Heart Fund volunteers of

Pacifica Urges Start Of Link Freeway 'Now'

The consensus of Friday's public hearing on the portion of the proposed freeway which will eventually link Bayshore Freeway with Pacifica was 'get going with those studies so we can find out where the road will go and get it started," according to J. P. Sinclair, state engineer for the Division of Highways' Fourth District in San Francisco.

He explained that the announcement that studies are now under way pertained only to the portion between the coast and Skyline. Studies on the section from Skyline to Bayshore were launched some time ago, he said.

'This means," he said, "that we are now studying the entire project."

He added that only one route was suggested by developer Andres F. Oddstad. He said this route would cut through a portion of the U. S. Coast Guard radio station which met with objections from a representative of the Guard present for the meeting.

Sinclair said that no date for the start of the freeway has been projected nor has any specific route been pre-established.

"Only after our studies are

Midtown Liquor Held Up By Two Young Men

The Midtown Liquor Store at 7144 Mission St. was held up by two young men Tuesday night and $243.80 in currency and coin was taken, according to a report from the Daly City Police Department.

The armed robbery was reported by the store's owner, Louis Bacigalupi, who said that at 11 p.m. two white males "in their early 20's" entered the store and one asked for a bottle of liquor.

The one suspect then pulled

DC Golden Jubilee Gets Top Priority

A high priority objective in in the administration of newly elected Mayor Robert St. Clair will be to assure the success of Daly City's Golden Anniversary Celebration, October 7-14.

St. Clair said that, with few exceptions, the Golden Anniversary Committee, headed by Arthur J. Bodien, has completed plans for the eight-day program.

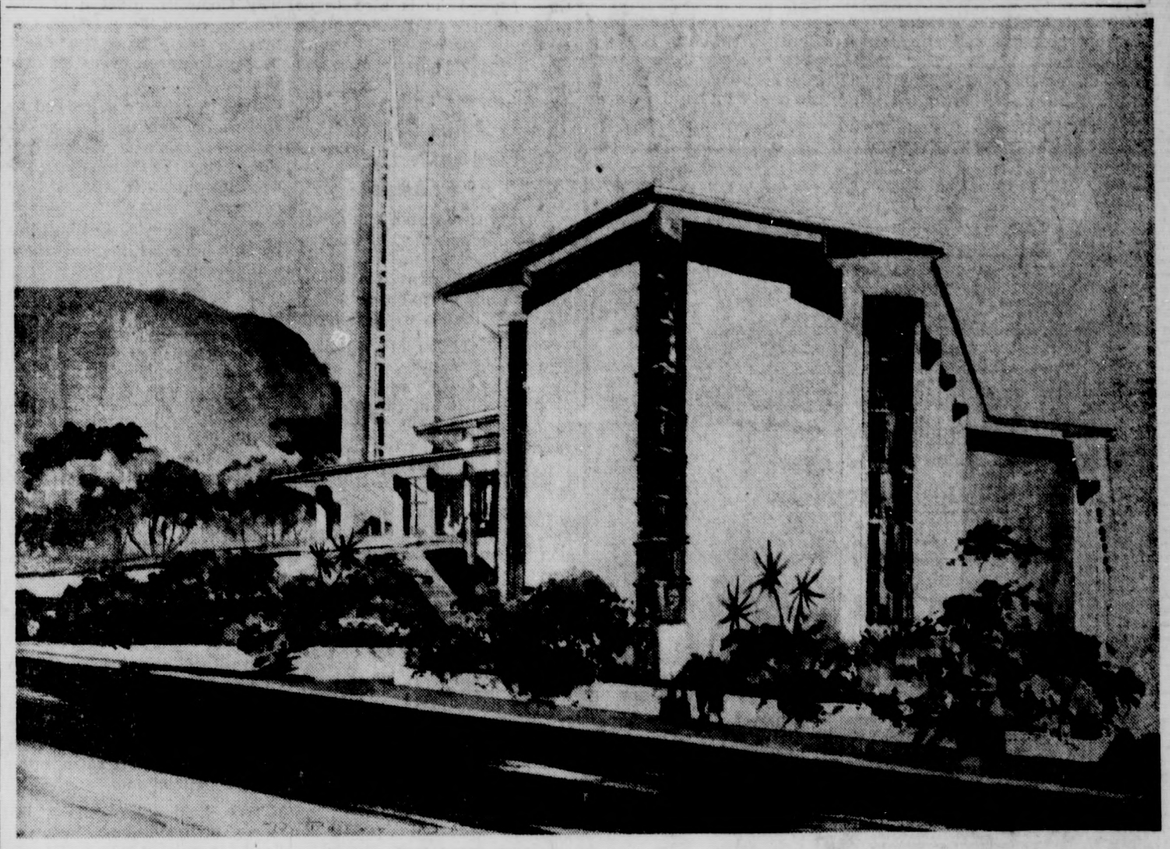
The celebration will begin with a giant, two-hour parade along Mission street and will end with a Grand Ball in the War Memorial Center.

It will include a variety of events and exhibits calling attention to Daly City's colorful history and its dynamic growth and development.

It will feature a fireworks display, an air show, a golf tournament, home garden show judging, a commercial floral display, a bowling tournament, a folk dance festival, a fashion show, a children's dancing program, a dog show, a beard-growing contest and an old time picture display.

To call attention to the celebration, a number of community events scheduled between now and October will carry the Golden Anniversary theme: "A century of progress in half the time."

St. Clair said he will devote as much time as possible to see that every advantage is taken of the many opportunities presented by the event.



ARTIST'S conception shows the nearly completed Mormon chapel and Stake headquarters located at the corner of Hillside and Brunswick in Daly City. The new chapel has been built at a cost of $521,000 and has a floor area of 25,000 square feet. It will seat 350 persons in the chapel, plus 1,146 persons in the auditorium to the rear. There are also facilities for indoor sports, plus 22 class rooms for Sunday school and youth programs. Offices for two ward bishops, plus other officials have also been provided. Plans call for the building to be the headquarters of the San Francisco Division of the Latter-Day Saints Church, or Stake.

Firemen Push Tickets For Saturday Ball

Daly City firemen this week were winding up a spirited contest for sale of tickets to the 28th annual Firemen's Ball to be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at the War Memorial Building.

Sam Grado, a volunteer fireman and president of the Widows and Ophans Association of Daly City, sponsors of the dance, said a prize will be awarded to the fireman selling the most tickets.

Proceeds of the event will go to the Widows and Orphans Association. Price of the ticket is $1 and they may be obtained from members of the fire department, at the fire stations or at the door.

Benny Bentfield and his orchestra will provide the music for the dancers. Decorations will follow the theme of Daly City's Golden Anniversary Celebration which will be held October 7 through 14.

Call Special Meeting To Act On Subdivision After 2017 Signatures Checked

There was a sergeant-at-arms present at the South San Francisco City Council meeting Monday night and the record will show that they needed him.

The general ruckus was a combination thing — the furor over the apparently thwarted Callen Park Annexation, a still flaming personal battle between Councilman Emilio Cortesi and Citizen Joseph Powers and an irate, frustrated trucking service operator who finally shouted:

"All you guys ever do back of that table is blaab, blaab, blaab! You're all crazy!"

That's where the sergeant-at-arms had to step in.

But taking first things first, the roots of the ruckus went back (at least for that day) to the closing time at City Hall when James Claar and Leo Cortesi (son of the councilman), leaders of the City Taxpayers' Association, filed 34 petitions bearing 2,017 names of residents who apparently agree that the annexation issue should be put to a popular vote."

City Clerk Arthur Rodondi confirmed the filing before council Monday night, saying that he had not had time to count the number of signatures and adding that it would take considerable time to check them out.

Asked for a legal opinion as to what the council should do next, City Attorney John Noonan said:

"The matter is out of your hands, gentlemen, and fully in the hands of the City Clerk who must now perform a judicial function by comparing all of the signatures with the records. Once he makes his report, then you come back into the picture.

"If his report shows that the petitions are legitimate, then you will have to make a decision as to whether you put the matter to a vote or rescind the annexation altogether."

Noonan then made the suggestion that, if possible the validity of the petitions be determined prior to the obligatory filing date of May 8.

"This way," he said, "if the petitions should prove valid, there would still be time to file the annexation papers with the state and thereby protect all agreements."

He referred to the agreements reached between the city and the Callan interests which

THIS is a picture of the old Daly City Amateur Band taken in 1925. The picture is the property of Mrs. Trixie Beeson of 472 Irvington street who for 10 years served as president of the organization. Her late husband, Thomas Jefferson Beeson, was a member of the band at the time and was president also until 1946. Mrs. Beeson, a professional entertainer, took over at this time. The band was sponsored then by the Colma-Vista Grande F.O.E., Aerie 1848. A municipal band today, the group is still directed by George Brenner. This is another of the "old time" pictures being run in connection with the city's Golden Jubilee Celebration set for a week's run in October.

May 5 Concert Planned For Opening New Mormon Edifice

A May 5 concert prepared by the Women's Chorus of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is scheduled as the initial event for the new "Mormon" chapel and Stake headquarters at the corner of Hillside and Brunswick in Daly City.

The concert is slated to start at 8:15 p.m. Before and after the concert, however, tours through the building are planned. Since the concert is scheduled as a benefit for the building, those who attend will be asked to donate $2. Everyone is invited.

The new chapel has been built at a cost of $521,000. It has a floor area of 25,000 square feet. The chapel area will seat 350 persons. Another 1,146 people can be comfortably seated in the auditorium behind the chapel area. The auditorium contains a stage and facilities for basketball and other indoor sports. Within the building there are 22 class rooms for Sunday Schools and week-day youth programs.

Also included in the building are offices for two ward bishopric's, the San Francisco Presidency, and High Council, a Relife Society, which is the women's organization of the church, and a junior Sunday School room which also serves the week day children's auxiliary known as the Primary.

Plans call for the building to be the headquarters of the San Francisco Division of the Latter-day Saints Church — called a Stake—and a place of worship and teaching by two local units of the stake-called wards.

All the activities of the Stake and the Wards will be under the direction of a lay ministry. The "Latter-day Saints" do not hire full time ministers. President of the San Francisco Stake is Irven G. Derrick, 408 Skyline, who is a newspaper man affiliated with the Associated Press. The bishops of the two wards are Samuel Chandler, Librarian of the Daly City Public Library, and John O Brec-

According to Bishop Chandler the members of the church living in Daly City are members of his ward. Following the concert the next scheduled event will be May 19 when Thomas S. Ferguson, archaeologist, and church leader will present a program on the Book of Mormon archaeology.

Other events planned include a concert by a choral group from Ogden, Utah, and a conference of the San Francisco Stake. Plans call for regular Sunday and weekday services to follow the conference which will be June 3 and 4.

'Old & New' Will Theme. July 4 Parade

"The Old and the New", wherever possible, will appear side by side in the Redwood City Fourth of July parade to carry out the parade theme, Chairman Ferris Miles of the Peninsula Celebration Association parade committee, has announced.

Horses and buggies and sleek, modern cars will provide some of the contrast in theme, "California Frontiers, Old and New", Miles explained. Vintage cars will also appear with their modern counterparts and streamlined floats may combine both phases of the theme.

Bay Area residents who have historical California relics appropriate for the parade may contact Mrs. Louise Lake, 1231 Jefferson avenue, Redwood City. Mrs. Lake is also to be contacted for all parade entries including bands, drill teams, marching units, floats and horses.

School Bus Driver To Demonstrate Skill At Roadeo

A Daly City school bus driver will be among some 140 contestants competing in the Ninth Annual Northern California School Bus Roadeo on Saturday, May 6, at the Hayward Airport.

The California School Employees Association, sponsors of the event, announced the local school bus driver who will be demonstrating his skills in the roadeo is Charles E. Earhorn of Jefferson Elementary School District.

The School Bus Roadeo is held each year to give recognition to the men and women who operate vehicles transporting students to and from school and to give them an opportunity to increase their professional driving skill and knowledge of traffic safety.

Blast McKeon

Commission had been 'gotten to."

From a portion of the report entitled "Comment on the Moral and Political Implications of This Case," Feyge read:

"On April 27, 1960, the California Highway Commission made its final decision.

"But Mr. McKeon was still not satisfied with the Commission's determination. Accordingly, he undertook to bring about a change in the Commission's final decision. Apparently he centered his efforts in Sacramento. What doors he entered, who he contacted, what he told them, what encouragement he offered — these are only partially known. It is known only that great pressure was applied.

"On March 22, 1961, without any request from any agency or jurisdiction representing the public, over the protests of the City of Pacifica and the County of San Mateo, and over what can only be interpreted as an adverse report from its highway engineers, the California Highway Commission set a hearing for reopening the question. One private party having a direct personal interest prevailed over the public . . .

"We are deeply disturbed by the moral and political implications of this case. We are confident that the California Highway Commission shares this concern."

Bradford, obviously disturbed by this inference, replied to the audience:

"It would appear from certain statements made that our integrity has been hurt. We have no bad feelings about this but I would like to say that we will do exactly what we see is the right thing to do and we will stand up and be counted.

"Pressure was not brought to bear on us, in fact, Governor Brown, who is the only governor I have had any personal association with, has to my memory never brought pressure on us at any time.

"We will take full responsibility. Don't blame anyone else."

Bradford explained later to this reporter that the commission has a right to re-open an issue if it feels new evidence might possible reveal that a previous decision was not the most beneficial one.

"We held this hearing because of confusion," he said, "and we wanted to see if there was any new evidence that might justifiably influence our decision."

He added that the commission will now study the transcript of the hearing and reach "an absolutely final decision" probably within a month.

Mayor Robert St. Clair of Daly City had this to say about the Pacifica accusations:

"I concur with Mr. Bradford's remarks in reference to Councilman Fegye's inference that certain doors were opened' in Sacramento in order to have a hearing."

St. Clair conducted Daly City's portion of the hearing. Councilman Joseph Verducci delivered the city's formal statement supporting a switch to Route A-1-D, which would cut through Doelger property in Pacifica slated for a planned community development. The route would also be located outside the city limits of Daly City.

State Engineer J. A. Legarra said at the outset of the hearing that the district engineer's office has re-affirmed its position favoring Route B. The County has done the same. Bradford said that the district and the county's opinion do not necessarily reflect that of the commission.

"We will make our own decision and that will be it, he said.

Both sides argued that their chosen route would be less expensive in the long run.

It was claimed by Verducci that because the A-1-D Route (the modified Y-T) is straight and 20 per cent shorter, it would net the state a $6 million saving every 30 years.

The opponents argued that the "more expensive" Route A-1-D would cost more initially than could be recouped in any amount of time.

Total cost for this route is estimated at $7,580,000 if the land remains undeveloped — $8,130,000 if it should be partially developed prior to purchase by the state.

Parks Code Is Tabled At Meet

The Parks and Recreation Commision tabled work on their park code Tuesday night until their next meeting due to the lack of a full commission present.

It is this code the commission is hoping to present soon to the City Council, and have them adopt it as an ordinance. This code would cover a multitude of items establishing park rules on such matters as the forbidding of advertising in parks, and other practices.

Oral reports on the organization of the department-sponsored baseball leagues were given. It was announced that some 600 boys were enrolled in the Midget and Junior Leagues, and that practice will begin in mid-May. There are 18 midget leagues formed, and 14 juniors.

supposedly become null and void if the annexation papers are not filed by the May 8 date.

Councilman Leo Ryan asked Rodondi how many days he would require to properly check the petition names. Rodondi said that with luck his staff could probably check 500 a day, adding that it was possible that he would have a report available by Friday.

At this point the council agreed that at the close of the meeting, they would adjourn until 7 p.m. Friday night.

Moments later Powers entered the picture. He asked Councilman Cortesi:

"Concerning the evening of April 17 (last council meeting) are you prepared to waive your diplomatic immunity?"

This was the night that Cortesi allegedly called Powers "a liar" and threatened to "get you and your family."

Monday night Cortesi answered simply:

"Knowing your character, Mr. Powers, I have no answer."

Powers then asked Cortesi if he would meet him in a court of law to contest the issue. Cortesi answered:

"My integrity is higher than some people I know. No one can point a finger at me and insult or threaten me. Powers went to the newspaper and didn't tell them the truth."

At this point a woman seated behind Cortesi on the council platform because of the "standing room only" situation, interjected:

"I was here I heard what you said."

Powers then wanted to know if, separated from his "diplomatic immunity," Cortesi would publicly claim that he (Powers) had not served as a campaign worker for him and that Cortesi had not called him names and threatened him.

"Would you make this kind of statement in the parking lot, Worthy Councilman?" Powers asked.

"I'm an old man but I'll take a chance," Cortesi replied.

Powers then repeated that there is "no chance to sue you as long as you are behind that table." To this Cortesi retorted:

"If you'd keep your nose out of some people's business, this wouldn't happen."

Enter Claar who firmly backed up Cortesi in his assertions that Powers had never been a campaign worker in his behalf. Claar had served as Cortesi's campaign manager prior to the last council election.

After further bickering between Cortesi and the audience, plus an edict from Councilman Ryan — "This is enough!" — Ted Everson, operator of Mobile Trucking Service, leaped to the microphone to shout his ". .. blaab, blaab, blaab."

Ryan countered with, "This man is no gentleman."

Everson shouted, "You're being rude. We're all Americans. You can't put the clamp on us. You're such a big tough American. How tough? Maybe Castro could use him."

Enter the sergeant-of-arms who was prepared to eject Everson until the latter agreed to return peacefully to his seat.

With nothing actually solved in the packed room that literally sang with tension, the council, against Cortesi's objections, took an oath that they were in no way interested, personally or financially, in the Callan Park venture, never had been and never intend to be.

Cortesi abstained, saying:

"I took an oath every time I took office. This is ridiculous.

A summary of the meeting was best expressed by a man who stepped up to the police sergeant-of-arms at the close of the session and said:

"Boy, am I glad you were here."

Better Business Bureau Has Issued Warning Against 'Referral Selling'

"Like to own a shiny new car, neighbor? Give me the names of six prospective buyers . . . for $100 a piece! Then come in and collect $50 for every name one of them gives me. In no time you'll earn enough to pay for the car of your choice!"

Would you buy a car, vacuum cleaner, water softener, based on that pitch? According to Vernon A. Libby, executive vice president of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, hundreds of gullible people have. Result: remorseful customers, obliged to pay for things they didn't really want or need!

One of the "something-for nothing" deals now current, this scheme is known as "Referral Selling." The prospect is told that he can get some article free, if he's willing to cooperate in a word-of-mouth advertising program. Sound harmless enough?

One gentleman thought it did. By the time he realized what had happened, and got around to reporting the operation to the Better Business Bureau, he was legally bound to purchase a new car.

It all began when Mr. John Dough was approached by a promoter who immediately embarked on a long dissertation on the fantastic amount of money spent on advertising in the United States.

He then explained that a poll of automobile manufacturers revealed 45 per cent of their sales were made on the strength of word-of-mouth recommendation. The manufacturers had decided it would be worth their while to pay a sum of money to an individual who would advertise a particular car.

The "Salesman" went on to explain that his company would put Mr. Dough in a new car if he would, in turn, set up appointments for six of his friends who might be interested in buying.

For every friend Mr. Dough sent, he was told he would get $100 from the company's word-of-mouth advertising campaign. Moreover, an additional $50 was offered for everyone who signed up as a result of interviews set up by the original six friends.

Mr Dough saw a rosy picture of sums of $100 and $50 pouring in. From this point on, he was sold! He picked out the car, signed a contract, and left a deposit.

Soon after, he found he wasn't getting enough "referral payments" to meet even a small portion of his obligation!

Consider a chain which starts off with one person who gets six others to participate, and each of the six gets six more, and so on. Here is how the pyramid would progress.

	36
	216
	1,296
	7,776
	46,656
	279,936
	1,679,616
	10,077,696

This is the "endless chain" —and it is endless. There aren't enough people around anywhere to sustain this method of selling!

According to the Better Business Bureau, this type of gimmick selling is operating all over the country. In some places, it has a new twist. One firm made long distance calls to its prospects, informing them they'd won a new appliance, and all they'd have to do was come in and pick it up.

When the "lucky" person arrived (one "winner" estimated the excursion had cost him $25 in taxi, train and baby sitting expenditures) he found he hadn't really won anything after all, but had been chosen to participate in the company's "referral campaign."

There is nothing new in this plan. It has been used in sales promotions involving water softeners, garbage disposals, home siding contracts, and even vacuum cleaners and sewing machines.

The "referral scheme' preys on the gullibility of individuals and can be put over with enough conviction to disarm many otherwise prudent buyers. However, its earmarks, as outlined below by the Better Business Bureau, are readily identifiable.

1. A friend or neighbor urges you to agree to an appointment to learn how you can get something for nothing.
2. At the appointed interview, the salesman explains how you can participate in an 'advertising" campaign.
3. He points out that through his person-to-person advertising plan the car, water softener, or what have you, will be "free" to you.
4. He tells you that it's easy to interest a few of your friends or neighbors in getting the same article without having to pay for it.
5. He implies that you will probably make money over and above the actual price of his item.
6. He wants you to rush into the deal right now . . . tonight!
7. He asks you to sign all the usual sales agreements — just like any purchaser!

It's News To Vets

A—Yes, payments will continue until your son is 18.

Walorinta of 345 First avenue, Daly City, is serving aboard the world's first Talos-firing guided missile light cruiser USS Galveston which returned to her home port at Norfolk, Va. recently, following a three-month cruise in the Caribbean.

During the cruise, the Galveston successfully completed the historic firing of the longest surface-to-air shot at sea. The firing marked the best of seven shots made during a technical evaluation program conducted for the Navy Bureau of Weapons.

The Galveston visited Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Jamaica and Mayport, Fla., during the tour.

Subdivision Ordinance Is Commended

The city was in receipt of a letter this week commending it for its recent ordinance pertaining to subdivisions.

The letter reads as follows.

"Relative to the meeting of the City Council on April 24, 1961, when Subdivision Ordinance No. 535 passed on second reading (this being the Ordinance dealing with subdivisions), our Company is directing this letter to your Honorable Council, commending you on its passage.

"Members of our engineering staff attended several previous meetings in connection with the formulation of this Ordinance We feel that as it presently constituted, it will provide subdividers with practical and workable rules for the development of subdivisions.

"It is of particular note that the Ordinance was developed with a view of providing practical assistance to subdividers operating in difficult terrains, and the topography we are faced with, if building is to continue in the Bay Area—bearing in mind that essentially all of the level areas have already been utilized.

"All of our meetings with City Manager Edward Frank, City Engineer William Chapman, and City Attorney Paul Hupf, and their staffs, have been on a most cordial understanding basis. Our Company is deeply appreciative for the fine cooperation extended by these persons to reach a mutual satisfactory ordinance.

"We understand that a new zoning ordinance is now being promulgated for Daly City. May we urgently request that subdividers and builders, who will be most vitally affected, be consulted in a manner similar to that under which the Subdivision Ordinance was finalized. We sincerely believe that the practical experience of the builders will be of value in the development of an effective zoning ordinance.

"Again . . . our sincere appreciation for all the cooperation extended to us by the officials in charge of subdivision and building regulations since the commencement of our activities in the development of the Southern Hills subdivisions.

Sincerely yours,
George G. Parsons,

WORKMEN proceed at full steam to replace the old roof on Reservoir 2 up on the hill back of the city. The rotted out roof, condemned by City Engineer Bill Chapman, is being rebuilt from treated lumber through a joint effort by the city's maintenance and water departments, Chapman said. Cost of the new roof, which is 100 feet in diameter and circular, has been estimated at $10,000. (Staff Photo)

CLOSEUP shows a portion of the rotted reservoir roof already removed in preparation for the new treated-lumber roof which will replace it as authorized by the city. City Engineer Bill Chapman said that the old roof had reached a point of degeneration whereby it could have collapsed at any time. In the distance is the city as viewed on a slightly hazy day from "reservoir hill" east of town. (Staff Photo)

Fire Department Warns Against City Fireworks

In an effort to forewarn Daly City merchants and organizations who might be planning a big blowout for the Fourth of July, the Daly City Fire Department has issued a notice reminding them that the sale or igniting of fireworks within the city limits is strictly taboo.

Battalion Chief Frank Specht said that the notice has been issued both to remind citizens of the illegality of fireworks within the city limits and to prevent any binding contracts being drawn between local organizations and fireworks companies or exhibitors.

The notice reads as follows:

"The Fire Prevention Code, 'Ordinance 489,' Section 12.02 prohibits the sale or igniting of fireworks within the city limits of Daly City.

"The word 'Fireworks' as used in this ordinance shall deem to mean and include any pasteboard or paper tube or similar device containing combustibles or explosives producing a noise or display of light."

Further information concerning this restriction may be had by calling the Fire Department business number.

Annual Mussel Quarantie Told By Dr. Merrill

The yearly quarantine of mussels for human consumption was declared today as a protection to Californians from the highly toxic poison present in the shellfish during the summer and early autumn, according to Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, state health director.

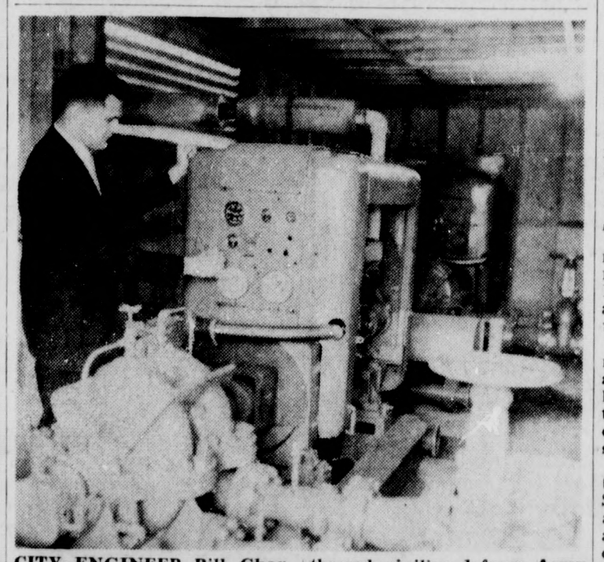
The quarantine, established along the California coastal shore and including San Francisco Bay, will be in effect to October 31, he reported. Mussels may be used for bait during the quarantine period, but must be broken open and placed in containers plainly marked in big print, "Mussels may contain poison. Unfit for human food."

The director also warned Californians to be cautious in the preparation of clams for summer meals during this period. He advised that clams should be cleaned and washed thoroughly before cooking and that all dark parts (where poison concentrates during the quarantine period) should be discarded. Only the white meat should be eaten. In addition, clams should be taken from areas free of sewage contamination.

The poison, found in plankton which serves as food for mussels and clams, is an alkaloid which acts like strychnine and and can prove fatal to persons eating the toxic shellfish. California had five case of mussel poisoning in 1954, and a death in 1948. There have been no cases nor deaths reported from mussel poisoning since 1954.

The health officers of the coastal and Bay counties have been instructed to post quarantine signs for mussels, and warning signs for clams.

Grand Falls, located southeast of Cameron on the Little Colorado River in Arizona, are reported by the National Automobile Club to be falls and rapids of great scenic beauty.



CITY ENGINEER Bill Chapman cranks up one of two new gasoline engine water pumps installed in the Westlake area to be used for emergency service in case of power failure there. The pumps (Chrysler engines) were obtained through civilian defense Army surplus. Chapman said the city was charged nothing for them and only had to stand the cost of installation and the pump house, estimated at about $15,000. (Staff Photo)

Warning Issued By Better Business Bureau Against Siding Companies

The aluminum siding business is a legitimate one but there are those who have brought discredit to it and financial hardship to home owners. Therefore, the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco and San Mateo County issues a warning.

At this time, the San Mateo County Bureau has been informed that a Peninsula home owner:

1. Was asked to sign a blank contract.
2. Was told that the aluminum siding job would cause their house to be used as a model.
3. Was told that the company would pay $100 for each job resulting from showing their "Model."
4. Was told that $10 would be paid for each name of prospect for aluminum siding even if no sale resulted.

The home owner was signed up for an installation of aluminum siding at $2,200. Added to this was more than $1,000 extra. This extra $1,000 is the time price differential (interest) which entitles the home owner to make equal monthly payments over a 7 year period.

The Better Business Bureau states that Reynolds does not approve of any sales being made on the strength of a "Model Home" pitch and does not offer a referral program. The company in question may buy sidng aluminum from Reynolds but contrary to the sales "pitch" the seller company is not the same Reynolds.

The Better Business Bureau asks that all who are solicited by means of a sales story that is questionable to please notify the Bureau. On the Peninsula, the number is FIreside 5-5585 and in San Francisco SUtter 1-3822. The Peninsula Bureau address is 3333 So. El Camino Real in San Mateo, and the San Francisco address is 414 Mason street.

The Better Business Bureau asks the nome owner to remember the selling techniques which a reliable contractor does not use:

Does not use the "Demonstration Home Pitch" wherein you are promised a "special" price for your remodeling job, or commissions on those sold to other home owners, if you'll show your completed job—as a satisfied customer—to other prospects. (This "special" price is the "gyp" contractor's regular price, and promises of commissions are made to every prospect. They seldom, if ever, are paid.)

Does not ask you to sign a completion certificate, before the work is finished.

Does not tell you he is the sales manager, sent out by the factory, and can, therefore, make you a "special" price.

Does not pressure you into signing the contract tonight, because the price is "going up" tomorrow.

Does not fail to write into the contract the exact nature of the work to be done, or omit oral promises which induced you to sign the contract.

Does not quote a 'blind price" without first having examined your premises or having secured full details of the remodeling required. (Firms doing this obviously must "pad" the price, to allow for all contingencies.)

Does not knock or discredit competitors whom you might ask to bid on your job.

Does not "bait," by attempting to avoid selling you the job at the advertised price or terms.

Does not tell you there is no carrying charge, if payments extend over a period of time.

Does not pose as an inspector from the city, or other government agency.

Does not use "par" selling, wherein the price is boosted two or three times the actual figure at which the job is estimated. If the home owner falls for this excessive price, a "gyp" salesman and contractor split and pocket the difference. (The Federal Housing Administration recognizes the practice as an evil, and will not insure loans on transactions where either the contractor or salesman is known to use "par selling.")

Robert Eskew's . . . WORDS TO READ BY

This has been a week to remember—only I'm not too sure I want to remember it.

First off (yeah, I did it again) I went back to South City to tune in on "The Callan Park Show" (previously entitled "The Emilio Cortesi Show)."

I don't know why, but I had this one picked as something like "Checkmate," you know, where they have several guys who figure in the picture and each week a different guy gets the limelight.

Man, was I wrong. Emilio's got the whole thing sewed up. Don't know who his writers are but his bit gets fatter and fatter every week.

No complaints though. This is a crackerjack show. I think they ought to call it "Death of An Annexation" and take it to Broadway. It could become the tragedy of the year, or is that word "travesty?"

Anyway, it got so boisterous at one point that a police sergeant almost had to eject one gent for screaming into the mike that the city fathers were nothing but a bunch of "crazy blaabers."

All I can say is that he ought to listen to a playback of his own tirades some time. He's a "vocal miler" if there ever was one.

So much for Callan Park—and the way it looks right now, that's all you CAN say about it.

Then, on Tuesday I spent an all-day scorcher in the gym of the War Memorial Building listening to a heated harangue over the proposed lateral freeway which (one of these centuries) will link Junipero Serra with Skyline boulevard.

Accusations and incriminations flew like feathers at a cock fight through most of the afternoon.

At one point, even the chairman of the Highway Commission, R. B. Bradford, felt it necessary to defend the commission's challenged integrity.

Biggest propaganda and fear item of the day was a small brochure claiming that if a certain route were chosen, hundreds of children would be forced to walk through a "300-foot, dark tube" on their way to and from school.

Pretty ghastly prospect, eh?

Of course, the brochure didn't say whether the "300-foot" meant length or width. Could have been 300 feet high and maybe a step long, come to think of it. Wouldn't be very dark that way though, would it?

So, I guess it had to be 300 feet long because most of all, it had to be dark, very dark, like a mole's hole or a sinister cave where small children are lured into infamy and shame by local deviates with a "Lolita" complex.

Only it turned out that what the state has in mind is a 200-foot underpass that even on rainy days would be about as dark as a 500-watt Mazda wrapped in cheesecloth. Anyone for dark glasses?

The day had its dull moments for sure. Ask Commissioner J. Cooper who literally was caught napping (mouth open and all) with his back to the audience while Pacifica's Harold Feyge was questioning the moral and political implications of the second hearing.

With all the stealth at my command, I tried to snap a picture of "Sleeping Beauty" but no dice, or no pic. His colleagues spotted me advancing, (a speed graphic camera is about as inconspicuous as Bob St. Clair at a convention of midgets) and shouted Mr. Cooper back to life.

Not without a sense of humor, however, Mr. Cooper later approached me with a coy smile to let me know that he was most sorry he had been unable to accomodate me. Anyone for suicide?

And then there was the lady who called me to ask me if I enjoy making a "lousy, greasy buck off the misery of other people."

She was referring to a story I had written about a young man who had been booked by the local constabulary for nothing much worse than possession and use of lethal narcotics. Same lad was passed out cold from a recent overdose of said stuff at the time of his arrest. And the lady caller (his wife) had turned him in.

I tried to convince the lady that I had a moral obligation to report such a crime, adding that it was my conviction that if a man (this one is 22) is willing to repeatedly chance a federal health and welfare violation at the expense of his own life and the happiness of his wife and children, then he ought to be equally willing to face up to the music when it suddenly goes sour and flat.

She said she wanted him to suffer, that's why she had called the police, but she didn't want her kids to have to suffer too. She claimed that I had managed that bit but good. (That's another thing I forgot to mention about myself—I'm against all kids. You see, I never was one myself, so why should I care.)

I was probably out of line, but I told the lady I thought that if anyone had hurt the kids, it was daddy, unless perhaps she had never attempted to explain to them what has been going on.

"How can you tell your kids their father's a dope addict?' she asked.

"How can you afford not to?" I replied.

And then there was that wind-up alarm clock I dropped on my bare toe and the dentist bill and . . .

Nothing like a memorable week to help you forget, right?

A RELIGIOUS EDITORIAL
FROM THE DALY CITY MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION
by
Rev. Vernon E. Thomas, Minister
Broadmoor Church of the Nazarene

Last week our National Civil Defense program was tested. It was necessary to ever be on the alert for the defense of our nation against enemy attack by intention or otherwise. Vast sums of money are spent each year for the defense of our cities, homes, and nation. This is right. We must not only have defense but also deterrents for those who would seek to overthrow our form of government. Every citizen must be made aware of the threat to our way of life and be encouraged to make full preparation for any emergency that would arise.

As important as physical preparedness is, it will be of little worth if the preparation of another kind is not made with eternal vigilance against the attack within our country. This is an attack on the moral and spiritual strength of our land. In the name of freedom there are those engaged in the attempt to soften up our people so capitulation to the enemy would be fairly easy. The understanding of God as Creator, Father, and Lord is necessary to understand man as of ultimate worth and eternal value. The attempt to obscure the vision of God, to blot out man's moral obligation to man and God, to degrade the human personality in the name of freedom is the attempt to destroy the very freedom by which this is done. So the civil defense which all must make is the civil defense of the spirit and mind. It is what we believe and affirm that counts. Our belief in God or lack of belief in Him does not change the reality or existence of God but it does make a great deal of difference to us.

Our nation was founded upon the concept and faith that God is and that He is the One who guides the destiny of nations. Upon this faith we either live or die. Communism declares that there is no God and that man will be the sole determiner of destiny. They would declare that "materialism" some dynamic dialectic of its own which will level every thing before the march of communism.

For them a man exists as a thing for the mass of humanity and not as one of intrinsic worth as a person before God. We would declare that there is a living God who is working out his purposes with men and nations. His character is one of righteousness, justice, and holiness. He is not only creating but judging and redeeming men. We must, therefore, build our faith and conduct upon the knowledge of God and faith in Him. William Penn said, "Men must be ruled by God, or they will be ruled by tyrants." It is stated that 21 nations have appeared in history with 19 of them going down because of moral corruption within and only 2 because of the outside attack.

Civil Defense means at least two things. First, we must build the moral and spiritual defenses with a knowledge of a faith in God. We must seek to counter every effort to subvert and weaken the moral fiber of our youth and adult population. By this we would say we have something worth living or dying for. Then our physical defenses and methods of personal survival must be in preparation as a deterrent to attack. With this preparation in case of attack we will be in a condition to save and minister a vast number of people that otherwise would not be possible.

Ground Is Broken For $100,000 County Scout Service Center

Ground breaking ceremonies for the new Training and Service Center of the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America, were held last week at 1300 South Bayshore Blvd., San Mateo.

Speaking on behalf of the 4600 adult volunteers in the local council, Glen O. Smallcomb, Atherton, building committee chairman and past council president, stated that the building, when completed in October, would have over 7000 square feet of space available for use in adult leader training and Council services to the Scouting program in the county.

Marron Kendrick, of Atherton, council president, stated that the building, if fully constructed by private contractors, would cost in excess of $100,000; however, due to contributions, both in money and in kind, from interested Scouters and businessmen, most of the necessary financing was assured.

The Rev. Jerry W. Trexler, of the Congregational Church of San Mateo, gave the invocation, followed by a flag ceremony conducted by Cub Scout David Waters of Pack 148, Boy Scout Robert Waters of Troop 48, and Explorer Ted Drake of Post 48, Sunnybrae.

Arthur Sullivan, City Manager; James J. Kehoe, postmaster; and Kenneth Van Gundy, Chamber of Commerce president, represented the City of San Mateo, while T. Louis Chess, of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, acted for the county.

Cooperating contractors and building trades were represented by: Henry Schwab, president, and U. S. Simonds, Jr., secretary, of the Building and Construction Trades Council of San Mateo County; Earl W. Honeriah, president of Carpenters Union Local 162; George W. Williams, President of Williams & Burrows Inc; and Harry Lee, president of Harry Lee Plumbing & Heating.

Council Scout Executive Earl F. Schmidt, Jr., served as master of ceremonies.

Fish & Game Commission To Study Regulations On State's Wildlife

The dry winter and spring and its effect on wildlife throughout the state will be given top consideration when the California Fish and Game Commission meets in Sacramento May 26 to adopt 1961 nunting regulations.

The Commission indicated this in San Francisco last Friday when it announced its "determinations"—the rules it proposes to adopt for the forthcoming year. Individual commissioners expressed fear that the dry weather will result in wildlife congregating around the relatively few available water holes and thus become very vulnerable to hunters. This was the main reason for the bag limit changes and changes in length of seasons.

Listed below are the regulations the Commission has announced it intends to adopt at the May 26 meeting in Sacramento. The Commission will listen to objections to these "determinations" at that time and can reject them or modify them as it chooses.

Pheasants — The statewide general season would be Nov. 18 through 27, a 10-day season. In the Imperial area (Imperial County and the eastern portion of Riverside County), the season would be Nov. 18 through Dec.17. Bag and possession limit would be 10 male pheasants per season, with the daily bag limit at two per day. On Southern California Co-ops, as usual, birds of either sex can be taken.

Quail — The quail season statewide would start Nov. 18 and terminate Jan. 1. The special additional Mountain Quail Season would be from Sept. 30 through Oct. 8 in the same areas as last year.

Red-legged Partridges (Chukars)—The season would be from Nov. 18 through Jan. 1 in the same area as last year, plus a portion of the San Joaquin-Sacramento Valleys described under Section 3276 of the Fish and Game Code.

Sage Grouse and Sierra Ruffed Grouse—Season would be closed on these birds in 1961.

Tree Squirrels—The season would be Nov. 18 through Jan. 1 in the same counties as were open last year.

Rabbits, brush and cottontail —The season would be Oct. 1 through Jan. 1 statewide.

Deer — The early season would be Aug. 5 through Sept. 24 and the late season Sept 23 through Nov. 5 in the same areas as last year, except that in Fish and Game District 13/4 (Modoc, Lassen and easterly portions of Siskiyou and Shasta) the season will be Sept. 23 through Oct. 15. Bag limit: Two bucks, forked horn or better, in the early season; one buck, forked horn or better, in both late season areas.

Deer Closures—In Northern California, the Three Sisters Area of Siskiyou County (approximately 40 square miles), and the Telephone Flats Area of Modoc County (approximately 160 square miles) would be closed to all hunting in 1961.

Bear — The early season would open Aug. 5 and the late season Sept. 23, with both seasons closing Jan. 15. The bear trapping season would conform to deer seasons.

European Wild Pigs—The season would be Oct. 1, 1961, to Mar. 31, 1962, in the county of Monterey; open all year and no bag limit in the balance of the state. In Monterey the bag and possession limit would remain one per day, one in possession. No hunter or hunting party would be permitted to hunt wild pigs with more than three dogs.

Archery Deer and Bear—The early season would be Jul. 23 through Aug. 1 and the late season Sept. 10 through 19.

Archery Equipment—In addition to regulations in force in 1960, archers would not be permitted to use arrows with explosive heads to take any animals, nor would any arrows from a bow or cross-bow be permitted to be released across any type of road open to vehicular traffic. Only bows that can cast a legal hunting arrow a distance of 130 yards would be permitted for hunting.

Furbearers — The season on river otter would be closed. On mink, foxes, badger and ringtailed cat the season would be Nov. 16 through Feb. 28. The muskrat season would be Nov. 16 through Mar. 31. The beaver season would be from Nov. 1 through Feb. 28 and Humboldt, Siskiyou, Del Norte, Modoc, Lassen, Shasta, Trinity and Tehama counties will be added to the open all year areas.

Smoked meat — Properly packaged smoked meat of a game animal would be permitted to be retained by the hunter after the close of the season in which the animal was taken provided a special permit is obtained from the Department of Fish and Game.

Shotguns with single slugs would be added to the pronibition on use of rifles, air rifles, pistols or pellet guns in taking pheasants, quail, sage grouse, sierra grouse, ruffed grouse and chukar partridge and the prohibition would be extended to include all resident and migratory birds.

FOSTER parents and JACKIE volunteers join forces to recruit new foster homes for neglected and dependent children. At a recent gathering to honor 100 foster parents and JACKIE's 12th birthday, particular emphasis was placed on the constant need for more foster parents. Ninty-five children are waiting at present time to be placed in homes around the Daly City area. Left to Right: Mr. Charles Maschinot, Mrs. Maschinot, Mrs. Allan Cuttaneo and Mr. John Coleman, all of Daly City. If you can help, call JACKIE, WAlnua 1-0665, or write 2015 Steiner street, San Francisco.

Lincoln School Has 'Outdoor Classroom'

Junipero Serra Park near San Bruno was the site of an 'outdoor" classroom for 34 third graders from the Abraham Lincoln School on April 27.

These youngsters accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Olga Pless, learned about out-of-doors through this real experience in observing nature in the natural setting of the park. The park is a county park, and is under the supervision of Dan Willis.

The boys and girls discovered things by themselves including tree scars, dead animals, poison oak, flowers, soil erosion, height of a tree, bugs, trail manners, tree leafs, and history and government of the area.

Questions regarding these many facets of out-of-door life became points of discussion between the youngsters, their teacher, and five interested county residents with educational experience who accompanied the group. These adults were Mesdames Judy Wilson, Edith Fanfelle, Lorraine Lee, and Helen Mori, and Mrs. Dan Willis. Dr. William Hammerman, professor of Outdoor Education at San Francisco State College was active in assisting in the organization of the trip.

No North County Girls Enter Rodeo

No Northern San Mateo or Coastside high school girls have yet entered the 22nd annual Redwood City rodeo queen contest, the first time this has happened in years, according to President George Fakhouri of the sponsoring Peninsula Association.

Entries are still open and girls with average or better horseback riding experience should contact Mrs. Paul B. Jensen, 1031 Hollyburne avenue, Menlo Park, DA 2-3217.

The queen will win a $500 college scholarship and will reign over the July 2-4 Redwood City rodeo. Girls who formerly were candidates and are still attending high school are eligible to enter.

Last year, Mary Di Maggio of Daly City tied for third in the rodeo contest and several years ago, Joan Westlund of Pedro Valley came in second. A Pescadero girl, Joanne Bordi, reigned as queen one year.

Candidates do not have to own a horse. They must have at least a 'C' scholastic average. More than one girl can enter from the same High School.

A total of 16 girls representing 10 different High Schools have already entered the contest but at least 10 more are eligible to apply.

Red Cross Seeks Recruits For Gray Lady Posts

The San Francisco Red Cross is sending out an SOS for 100 new Gray Lady recruits to serve in three local hospitals.

Mrs. Theodore Monell, Gray Lady chairman, said that the recent transfer of S.F. General Hospital patients to Laguna Honda Home has created an acute need for expansion of the Gray Lady Craft Program there.

The program is extremely popular with the bed patients, Mrs. Monell said, but at the moment each patient can be helped by a Gray Lady only once every three weeks.

Women interested in teaching simple crafts are needed from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays. Red Cross training will be given at Laguna Honda.

Letterman and Ft. Miley hospitals also are requesting more Gray Ladies, the chairman said. Hours at these two hospitals can be arranged to give volunteers some choice and mothers with pre-school youngsters can bring their children to the nursery school on the Presidio while serving at Letterman.

Letterman Gray Ladies may serve in the pediatrics ward, the recreation dept. and the clinics, while Ft. Miley needs evening recreation workers.

Women interested in any of these volunteer jobs may register at Red Cross headquarters, 1625 Van Ness ave., Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or they can call PRospect 6-1500 for an appointment.

Two Gray Lady training classes will be held at Letterman from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, May 6 and Saturday, May 13.

Lake Tahoe Is Planted With Trout Species

Some 13,000 six-inch Yellowstone cutthroat trout were planted in Lake Tahoe recently under a research project being undertaken jointly by the states of Nevada and California to try to improve angling in the lake.

Obtained by Nevada authorities from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Station at Hagerman, Idaho, the fish were planted on the Nevada side of the lake at Logan Shoals, near Zephyr Cove.

California and Nevada biologists marked the fish by removing a portion of their right jawbones. This mark has been used successfully in other plants made in California and other parts of the country.

Nevada plans a second plant of Yellowstone cutthroat later in the year. In June it plans to stock 15,000 fall-spawning rainbow trout.

California plants of cutthroat, from its Heenan Lake (Alpine County) source, will be made this year. California also plans to stock Kamloops trout, a variety of rainbow highly esteemed by anglers.

The South Tahoe Rod and Gun Club, cooperating with the state agencies, has scheduled a plant of 2,000 15-inch, one-pound rainbows in May and July. California biologists will mark these fish with a new experimental tag and also by the removal of the left pectoral fin.

The Yellowstone cutthroat is a relative of the Lahontan cutthroat trout, which once thrived in the Tahoe area. It is yellow and orange and has under its chin the orange slash typical of the cutthroat trout. Biologists say it may turn a silvery color in Tahoe.

South San Francisco judoists—in their most impressive performance this year—scored a total of 15 wins in the Spring Promotional Judo Black Belt Federation Tournament held in South City Sunday.

Almost 200 judoists from Northern California and Nevada converged upon the North County community for the meet, first of its type held at SSF High School.

Two North County judoists walked off with first and second place trophies. Five received promotions in rank.

Phil Lara of South San Francisco registered three wins by spectacular throws, and earned first place trophy in the Brown Belt class. He was advanced one degree by a panel of judges following his strong showing.

Joe Souza, also of South San Francisco, winner of the American Judo Federation's "outstanding performance" award last year, earned second place trophy in the White Belt class.

Souza also registered three wins. Souza, Joe Benetti with two wins, Eddie Rodriquez with one, all of South San Francisco; and Ed Garafolo of Daly City, with two wins, were all advanced from White to Brown Belt categories.

South City Warriors Scalp Jeff Indians 2-1 In Blazer

It was South San Francisco High's Warriors who did the scalping last Friday when they tangled with Jefferson High's Indians in a Peninsula League game, dumping the local baseballers 2-1 in 11 innings of play. The game was held in South City.

The Indians didn't give up easy. The Indians were fighters all the way. They gave it every thing they had, but just couldn't get the necessary runs. As a final blow, the local nine lost the game as the result of a bad call on home plate at the top of the 11th.

Jeff played good defensive ball, looking sharp all the way. Stan Montalvo pitched the ball for the full 11 innings, striking out nine, walking two. Jeff's lone run of the game was scored by John Souza at the top of the 11th. Mills got two runs in the bottom of the 11th.

The loss puts the Indians in third place in league standings, tying with Mills' Vikings for a 4-2 record.

South City got two runs, eight hits and one error to Jeff's on run, eight hits and one error.

Something About Sports

By JIM KALLENBACH

...Ben Franklin nosed by San Bruno's Parkside last Thursday afternoon to hand the latter a 6-5 defeat. Both teams got three hits. Franklin scored all of its runs (6) in the second inning, had four walks and two hits, also in that inning.

Leading hitters were Nick Krnich, who incidentally is batting .499 so far this season—he got one for two. Joaquine Andrade got one for two, and Bill Wait got one for one. San Bruno rallied in the last inning to make it a three-run inning. During the inning, Tom Adams was brought in to sub for Charles Silk, who ended the game and got the win.

...This Saturday and the Saturday after that (the 13th), Jeff's stadium will be the site of the BYA Junior olympics. This event will be a city-wide track meet. Its three sponsors are Jeff Elementary School District, the BYA (Better Youth Assn.), and the city rec department. Division of the entries will be in three groups: Midgets (boys nine years and younger); Juniors (boys 11 years and younger); and Intermediates (those boys 13 and who have not attained their 14th birthday by May 6). The public is invited. Preliminary events start at 10 Saturday. Finals will be on May 13 at 10, a week later.

The invitational track and field meets for the Intermediate Athletic Assn. will be held during the weeks of May 22 and 29.

...Last week was a humdinger so far as the local baseball scene went. Two of our hurlers accomplished almost the near impossible by pitching no hitters. First there was Terry Christman, Westmoor ace chucker, who gave Westmoor a shut-out against Capuchino to the tune of 5-0, and then a few days later, young Paul Clayton of Daly City Drugs in the Parkmerced League tossed a no-hitter to crush D & S Lumber 3-1. That's real pitching!

If our players keep pulling surprises out of the hat like that, talent scouts for the SF Giants in the coming years won't have far to look for fresh talent. Whether it's baseball, track or swimming, and regardless of whether the fellow goes to Westmoor or Jefferson, as an observor who hasn't been in these parts for to long, I'd say the local citizenry should be mighty proud of the record and spirit shown by the guys on either of the high school teams. Both are tops in my book!

...Here's an interesting sidelight. Did you know that three of our top city leaders are or were active in either the playing or coaching end in the field of athletics? City Manager Ed Frank is a former coach. Joe Verducci not only put some hours in actively participating in various sports, but was a coach at SF State, now director of athletics. Mayor Bob St. Clair is the only one of the trio who is presently active in athletics per se. Of course, we all know he's with the SF 49'ers. . .

...For you adults who can't swim, but would like to know how, or for you dog paddlers who would like to improve your style (?), those adult swim classes offered by South San Francisco High are still being made available to you, even though you'll get in on four instead of five of the weekly lessons. Classes will be held every week (until June 1) at either 7 p.m. or 8 p.m. Sessions are for one hour. Bring your own towels and swim suits. There is a $3 fee, which is payable at the night school office, prior to entering the gym for lessons. The way I hear it, classes will be mixed (well now!) . . .

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

Barber Woody Green takes great pride in his new Skyline Plaza shop but one piece of furniture has a special spot. It's the winners trophy for his Westlake Barbers team in the Southgate Mixed Fives League. Team captain Nancy Corbett, who also took high game honors for the league girls, Marilyn Nottingham, Neal Corbett, George Fresyslaben, Nelio Frinca and Jim Vlahovich presented the trophy with appropriate ceremony.

This is House Champion time at Westlake Bowl. The past two tournaments to determine the male champion of league bowlers were so well received that this year a tournament will be added to determine the female league champion. With a total of over 2500 league bowlers, the two winners will be the proud possessors of cash prizes and trophies, plus inscription of their names on the permanent trophies. The men may qualify on weekends or after league play at nights between now and May 13. Semi-finals will be held May 20 and the Peterson Point Rolloffs will be held May 27. Women league bowlers, both day and evening, may qualify from May 27 to June 11 with semi-finals and finals scheduled for the following weekends. Squad times may be arranged by contacting Primo.

After over two and one-half years of operation and millions of games, Ron Anguillo of the Mardec team finally broke the 700 barrier as he bowled games of 268-202-244 for a 714 total. Ron's feat earns him a place in the Westlake Bowl Hall of Fame along with Bob Bresnahan who rolled the only 300 game to date and those who have registered games of 275 and over.

Congratulations are in order for Jerry Johnson, the Westlake Bowl representative of the San Francisco Women's Bowling Association who has been elected first vice-president of the organization. Jerry, who is the very efficient secretary of many of the leagues here at Westlake has selected Martha Lauer and Doris Cunningham as our representative to the Association.

May 27 has been set as the starting date of the first tournament of its kind. Strictly a family affair, this doubles competition will be open to any combination of parents and children. The only requirement as to league participation is that one of the team, either parent or child, is a member of the American Junior Bowling Congress, American Bowling Congress or the Women's International Bowling Congress. Children who have not reached their eighteenth birthday by May 27 will be eligible to compete. This tournament called the "Family Doubles" will give an opportunity to bowl in competition to the many families in which only one of the members is presently bowling in league competition.

RAMS WALLOP VIKINGS 7-3; IN TOP PL SPOT

Westmoor's Rams walloped the Mills' Vikings 7-3 in a hard hitting, fast running Peninsula League meet Friday at Millbrae. The win puts the Rams in number one spot in PL standing, a step closer to a possible championship.

Westmoor lost no time in getting down to business, scoring in the first inning when with one out, Terry Christman tripled to deep right center and scored on a long sacrifice fly to center field by Rich Morales. The Westmoor nine copped four runs in the third inning. In that inning, Steve Funai led off with a single to center field, followed by a line shot single to right field which got by Tom Edwards of Mills and Funai was able to score on the play, with Bill Hix going all the way around and scoring.

With one out, Morales doubled to left center. Barry Krohn was walked to put runners on first and second. Cornell Holmes was safe on a dropped fly ball by Edwards in right field, loading the bases.

Steve Payette was hit by a pitched ball forcing in Morales with the third run for that inning. Krohn scored the fourth run of the inning when Ron Townsend hit a single into short left. Westmoor's final two runs were scored in the fourth inning when Christman led off with a single to left center, and took second base on an infield out by Morales who stole third.

Krohn was walked and working the double steal, scored when Bill Prevot, Mills' catcher, threw the ball into center field trying to throw out Krohn who was en route to second. Holmes followed with a walk, putting runners on first and third. Krohn scored the seventh run of the game for Westmoor when Payette was safe on a throwing error by Mills' third baseman.

Mills scored in the bottom of the fourth on a walk by Prevot and a long triple to center field by Dennis Joost, who in turn scored on an infield error by Funai, Rams' second baseman. The Millbrae nine got their third and final run at the bottom of the sixth, when Prevot walked to lead off the inning and with one out, Joost singled to short left, putting runners on first and second. Prevot scored from second on a single to right field by Rich Verili, which was fumbled by Townsend.

Krohn was the starting and winning pitcher, who in his seven inning stint allowed three runs on five hits, walking four, striking out eight. It was Krohn's third successive league victory, giving Westmoor undisputed first place with a 7-0 record at the conclusion of the first round of league play.

WESTMOOR'S ace pitcher is shown winding up for a fast hurl. Christman pitched a no-hitter last week against Capuchino, his first for Westmoor. Nearly four years ago he pitched a no-hitter when he was pitching for the Daly City Drugs in the Summer League. Christman has a total of 43 innings, in which there have been 29 hits off of him. He has eight earned runs scored against him giving him a 1.30 ERA and a 6-1 record for the season. In 43 innings, he has struck out 47 players, and walked 16. In PL play he has a 2-0 record with an ERA of 0.41.
